The UB launched in 2015 the Support Programme as a firm commitment to support with resources, facilities and knowledge to the construction of a peaceful, fair society based on cooperation and solidarity.

The Programme was designed to contribute to promoting university access for refugees, stateless, asylum seekers and people in refugee-like situations.

It is a comprehensive programme aimed at the most vulnerable people who seek an opportunity to continue their academic and life paths (life gains).

PILLARS OF THE PROGRAMME

- What UN has called "complementary pathways to resettlement" for refugees
- Alignment with 2030 agenda: SDG 4 (quality education) and 10 (reduce inequalities)
- Supporting refugee students who live in Catalonia (line 1) and in non-EU countries (line 2)
- Building up an internal UB network and an external collaborative network with public bodies, NGOs and enterprises

CONCLUSIONS

Universities are key agents of social change. Current challenges are an opportunity to work together towards more inclusive, respectful and committed societies.
